As a manager, you will be able to oversee the system working overtime, as well as your colleagues' well-being.

How the System Works - Interface

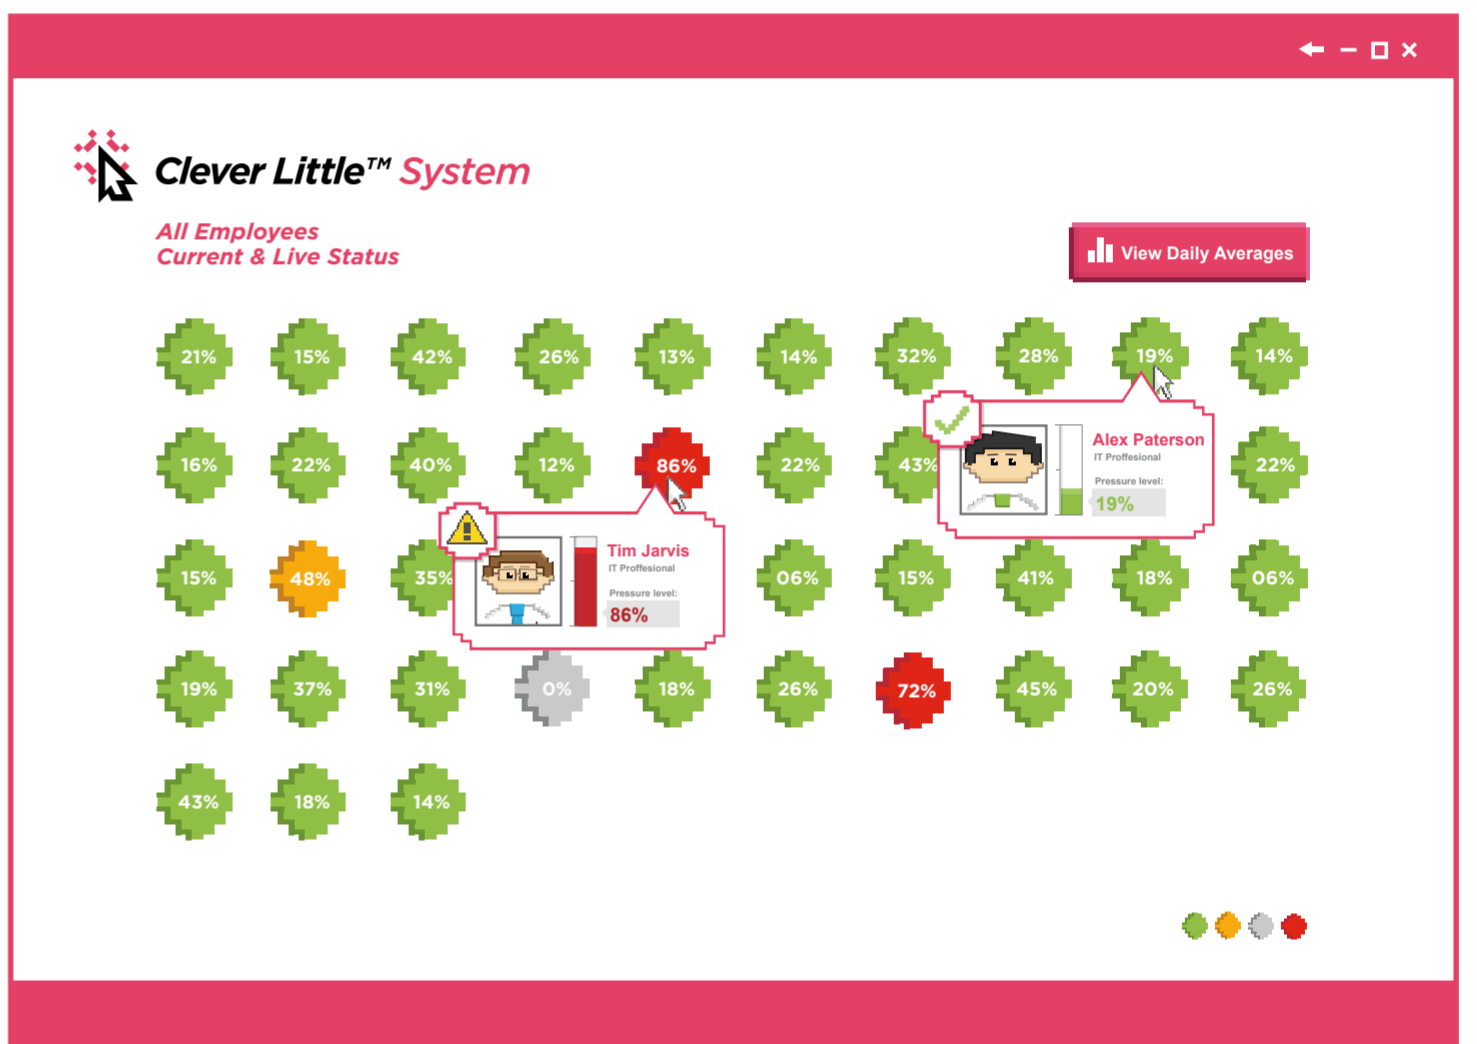

1) Current & Live Status of ALL Employees

This allows you to oversee that everything is ok. It shows how pressured (red) or unpressured (green) your colleagues are in %, if they have been stressed recently but not anymore (yellow) and will remain grey'd out if someone is not present.

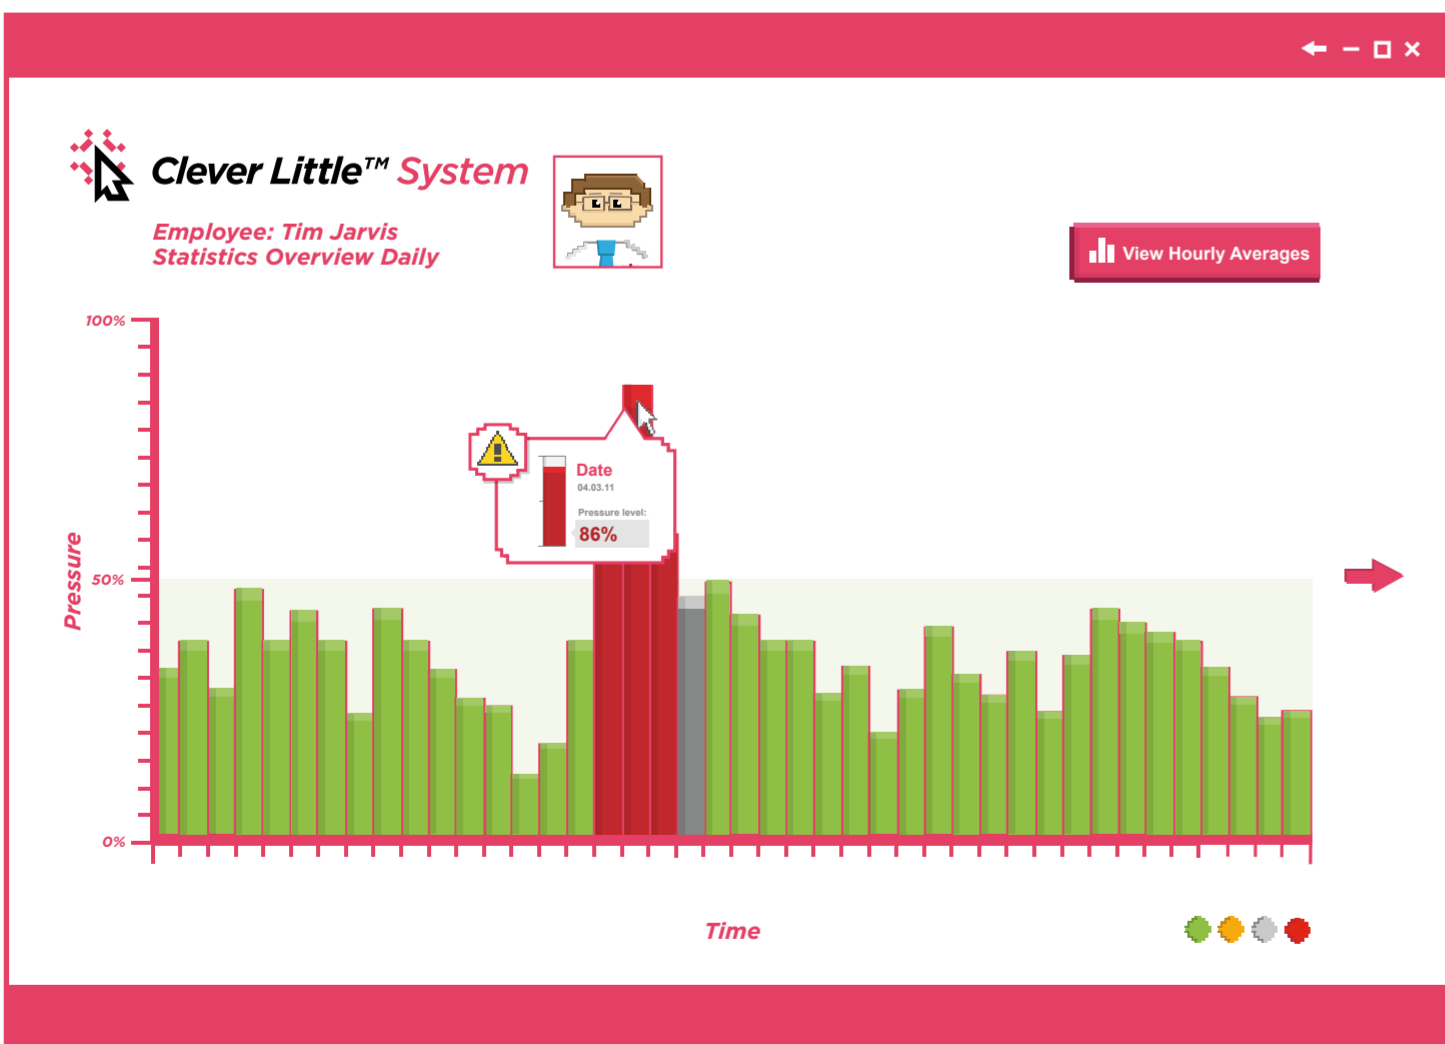

2) Hover Over Employees: Pressured Example

Hover over any employee and view who they are, and their current status. In this example, Tim Jarvis is very pressured currently, and has flagged up, where as when hovering over Alex Paterson, he is just fine.

3) Employee Statistics Overview (Daily)

By clicking over the user you were hovering over, it allows you to overview individual employees' well-being in great detail; this can also be viewed hourly.

4) All Employees' Daily Average

Using mouse over time has potentially reduced pressure on average throughout the work place and has created more of a balance.
